MISTRESS FAIRY.

POSITIVELY THE LAST NIGHT BUT ONE THAT SHE CAN APPEAR IN HER GREAT CHARACTER

OF LADY MA-BETH.

Mr. EDWIN ADAMS as Macbeth.

The subject extract from some of the principal daily papers of the city, are respectively submitted to the consideration of the public.

NEW-YORK HERALD.

Miss Bateman essayed for the first time on Monday evening the character of Lady Macbeth, and repeated it eight times over to overflowing houses. The circumstance of this being her first appearance in a character calculated to test the powers of the actress, she did not let the audience know of the occasion, nor did she let the house, a difficult one, was ever so much as a minute ago to receive the congratulations of the audience. This was indeed a success of the greatest scenes. Edwina was a complete and unequalled tragedienne. Her first act was especially excellent—the celebrated pieces of the play were all delivered with great effect. The second act was equally excellent—the celebrated pieces of the play were all delivered with great effect. The third act was a difficult one, but she did it with great effect.
